According to a sub-source whom source considers reliable, the following information was presented regarding General Radescu, the newly-appointed Rumanian Chief of Staff:

Comment: On 14 October it was announced that General Nicholas Radescu was appointed Rumanian Chief of Staff to replace General Mihail who had been transferred from the post of Chief of Staff to that of Inspector General of the Infantry.

Early in 1941 when Baron von Killinger came to Rumania as German Minister, he addressed a threatening and harsh speech to the Rumanian people. General Radescu, despite Rumania's position at that time, refused to let these remarks go by unchallenged. He addressed a vigorous letter of protest to Baron von Killinger, and then delivered himself to Marshal Antonescu. The Marshal arrested him, though at considerable public embarrassment, and from that time until 23 August General Radescu was in a concentration camp. //
